1988
Vol. XXXIII

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven:

A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;

A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;

A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;

A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;

A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away;

A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;

A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

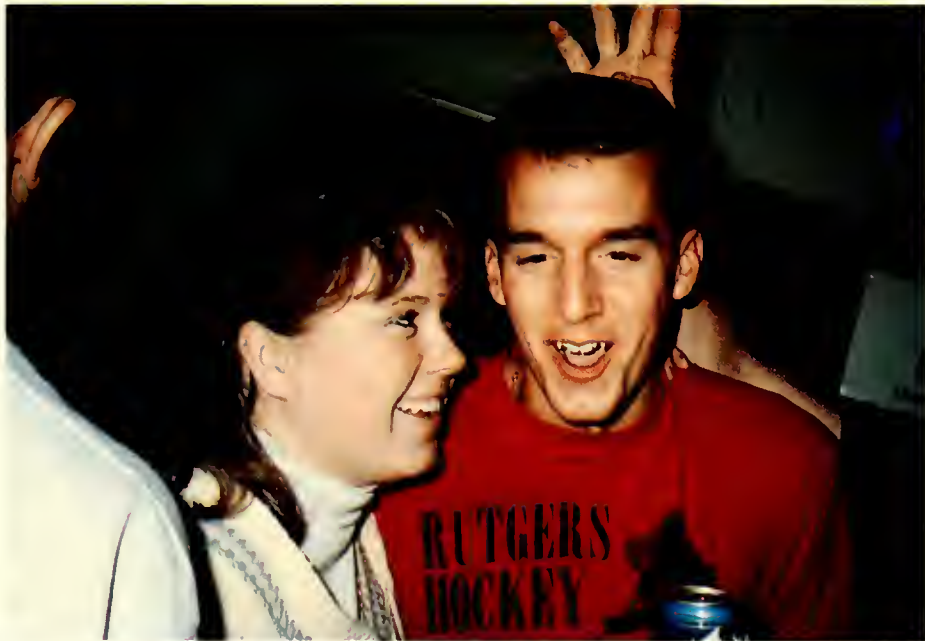

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

Dr. Cameron West, president of Pfeiffer College for the last ten years, announced his plans to retire effective May 30, 1988 at the November 3 meeting of the Board of Trustees. His retirement ends a total of twenty years of service to the college.

In announcing his retirement, West expressed his appreciation to the Board of Trustees, faculty and staff, alumni students and other college constituencies for their friendship and support.

"After twenty years at Pfeiffer, I cannot leave with other than ambivalent feelings. The pleasure of the accomplishments is balanced by a sense of loss of day-to-day experiences," West commented. "Pfeiffer, since its beginning has been a college which emphasizes a sense of mission, motivation and student responsibility along with a concern for moral and ethical values. This is a positive environment for both students and those who work here."

West added, "Mrs. West and I have thoroughly enjoyed being on a college campus again and value many personal friendships among students and others who are a part of Pfeiffer."

Ervin Goes Dry

In response to the violence which erupted on campus February 19, 1988, Ervin Dormitory has been proclaimed a "dry dorm." According to a memo sent to all students by Dean Westcott, dated Feb. 24, 1988, "No alcohol is permitted in Ervin Dorm at all . . . Anyone found in Ervin with alcoholic beverages, resident or not, will be written up, regardless of age."

Dean Westcott explained the new policy to the Ervin men at a dorm meeting Thursday, Feb. 25, 1988. He explained the policy was instated because the abuse of alcohol intensified the violence Feb. 19. Westcott also indicated that any student under the legal drinking age found intoxicated would be charged with an alcohol violation.

Attendance Policy

By LEE KELLEY
Staff Reporter

Miss 25% of your classes and you fail. According to Dr. Riemann, Dean of Academics, a new attendance policy has been instated for Pfeiffer College. This attendance policy makes it mandatory for students to attend at least 75% of class meetings. If a student misses more than 25% of a class, then that student becomes ineligible for a passing grade in that particular course.

When asked how he felt it would help the students, Dean Riemann said, "I guess the way I see it is, it will help impose more self discipline on students that need it. I want students to feel the need to attend class." He continued, "We feel that they are important and students should feel this. If students feel that they don't have to go to class to pass, then something's wrong."

No Black Professors

By CHRIS HUGHES
Staff Writer

Being black and working at Pfeiffer College means washing pots and sweeping floors. Despite the United Methodist Church's commitment to minority education and equal opportunity employment, Pfeiffer College does not employ a single minority in a teaching or administrative role. Mildred Davis, president of the Black Alliance, clearly states, "It's the obligation

"I want students to feel the need to attend class."

According to Dr. William Benfield, religion professor, students ought to be treated like adults. "Students are free to discuss why they will be absent or were absent. I don't criticize them in any way for these reasons." Benfield also commented that he didn't feel he had a problem with students skipping his class.

of Pfeiffer College to have black faculty."

If Pfeiffer is to break the bonds of this present situation, it must look for innovative ways to bring minorities to the front of its classrooms. Already, the Education Department is involved with several other local colleges in a unique program to share young black professionals in the classroom. If it is to make Pfeiffer attractive to young black teachers, Pfeiffer must take the lead in educating away many of the racist attitudes that persist in rural Stanly County.

A Time to Commit

Pfeiffer College can be considered a fine tuned machine. Within this machine, many parts operate. At Pfeiffer, many clubs and organizations circulate fresh blood through the campus, that keeps it alive and kicking. Many students at Pfeiffer participate, with great enthusiasm. You can only achieve out of clubs what you put into them. Realizing this, students work hard at reaching goals and making things work.

A Time To Enhance

Pfeiffer never leaves one with time on his hands. Throughout the year, Pfeiffer offers events that, not only provide a good time, but enhance the community as well. Talent flows with the production of Inherit the Wind and A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum.

Homecoming fills the air with romance in the fall while Aprilfest enhances the spring. The Blood Drive proves to be the gift of life once again. And entertainers can be found livening things up. Variety is the spice of life, and these spices are definitely seasoned at Pfeiffer.

New Pfaces

Being in a new place can be a very frightening experience. College is one such example. In contrast, starting college can also be an exciting and enjoyable experience. This was the goal of orientation. During Orientation week the "new pfaces" on campus came and learned about Pfeiffer, college life, and each other. One highlight that always tends to relax the tension of the week is the annual "panty-raids". Another activity of the week was a "funfare" where everyone learned about standing ova-tions. There was a toga dance to welcome all the students back to school. Although the "new pfaces" had to take tests also as part of the week, they soon learned that college was much more fun than frightening.

A Night To Remember

Homecoming "87" was an all day event. It began with the Homecoming Carnival which was held on the lawn. The parade started at 12:00. There you could catch a glimpse of the Homecoming Court and various clubs. At 2:00, there was a soccer game. The Dance began at 9:00 and was held in the Cafe. That evening Kelly Blanchette was crowned Homecoming Queen.

The dance began at 9:00 pm and lasted into the wee hours of the morning. The climax of the dance was when Kelley Blanchet was crowned our new queen.

FRIGHT NIGHT FUN

Creative costumes and colorful characters . . . Every autumn there comes a time when mature students don themselves with Halloween costumes. If students have learned anything at college it seems to be creativeness in costumes.

A costume contest was held at dinner. Later at the lakehouse there were costumes ranging from Freddie Kregar to a Fallopian Swim Team.

Afterward, everything returned to normal except for a little jealousy. Mildred Davis commented on her boyfriend Clarence Underwood in a dress by saying "I thought he looked cute—almost better than I do."

Entertainment Tonight

To the uninitiated Pfeiffer Fridays appear monotonous. But to those who have discovered the entertainers presented by the College Union Board they are fabulous!

Whether you are awed by Tom Deluca (our favorite hypnotist), captivated by 1964 (whom we associate with the Beatles), dedicated to Rick Kelley, or are intrigued by new performers such as Mike Rayburn, CUB presents a variety of entertainers who will delight you with their skill.

CUB also provides daily movies to spice up our lives.

CUB puts on great shows and saves Friday nights.

What's for Supp?

Pfeiffer offers its students a variety of concerts and lectures to enhance their knowledge in different subjects. These programs consist of art shows, movies, lectures and concerts. Many different speakers are brought to Pfeiffer to inform students on a variety of issues. Those culture credits events must be attended in order for students to graduate.

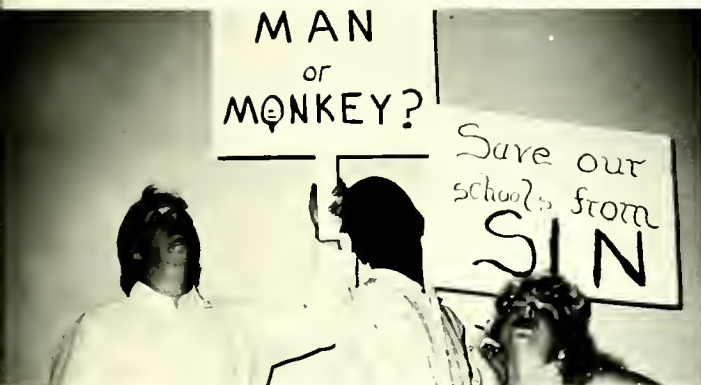

This year Pfeiffer presented several weeks of programs focused on Japanese culture. Speakers came to discuss important issues between Japan and the United States.

Save Our School

"Save our school from sin" was one plea delivered to Colonel Brady in this years fall production. The drama department presented Inherit the Wind October 22-24 and October 30-31 in the Pfeiffer Theatre. Inherit the Wind is based on the Scopes Monkey Trial of the early 1920's. In it a young school teacher breaks the law by presenting material on Evolution. As he is brought to trial the small town of Hillsboro is turned upside-down. Brady and Drummond, once friends, now become enemies as they face off in court. The drama presented valid questions on religion and also a few laughs.

An Old-Timey Christmas

Christmas carols and cedar trimmings in November . . . Nothing is wrong. It's Williamsburg Christmas time at Pfeiffer. Williamsburg Christmas is a "traditional Christmas" which is the last few weeks

It consists of caroling, concerts, and campus-wide decoration with home-made decorations. It is charged with excitement and puts the Christmas spirit in the air.

A Night to Remember

This is a night for couples to dance the night away. It all began on a Friday when flowers were delivered to the lucky girls and guys from their sweethearts. That night Seilers provided a steak and shrimp dinner for all students. The dinner was rather formal. It was served by the campus staff. The dance began at 9:00 and lasted until the "wee hours of the morning". The old gym, where the dance was held, was decorated with red and white balloons.

Off Key

The spring musican was "off key" from the typical musicals the theatre usually performs. A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum was the comedy presented by Pfeiffer students. Some numbers performed were "Comedy Tonight", "Lovely", and "A Maid". The play was performed February 24-27, 1988 in the Pfeiffer Theatre. It seemed to be a joy to the actors and audiences alike.

Springtime Fun

Typically the arrival of spring comes with the desire to get outside and have fun. That is when the entire campus prepares for the week of Aprilfest activities. This year Aprilfest was held the week of April 11-17. Monday night CUB showed "Creature of the Black Lagoon" by the lake. On Tuesday night was the annual Pfeiffer Aprilfest Talent Show before a full house. Also in celebration of Aprilfest was an Ice-cream Social and the annual Road Rally.

The week's activities ended with a formal dance in Memer Gym on Friday night. The gym was decorated like a cruise ship. Diane Jones-Hemphill was named 1988 Aprilfest Queen. Sunday was an afternoon at the lake with lots of fun.

The Final Goal

Four years ago it was only a vague dream, a day that seemed too far into the future to even dream about. But the years have flown by. Despite the long classes and the endless nights of studying and partying, graduation has now come . . . and gone.

The class of 1988 proudly walked across the stage in Merner Gym on May 7. The ceremony was held at 10:30.

The walk actually does not achieve much. However, it is a symbol of all one has accomplished in their college career. It stands for all the term papers, exams, challenging classes, endless loads of homework, and even a few enjoyable classes and teachers.

The class seemed to be very proud, and had every right to be. They have accomplished "the Final Goal" of their college lives.

Get Involved

As energetic members of the community, Pfeiffer students are involved in many activities both on and off campus. Their commitments extend from academics to parades, special dinners, blood drives, and all types of celebrations. Unquestionably, student involvement makes a difference.

A Time To Laugh

Dorm living is a unique experience which should be required the first year of college. It helps to clear the air about what living together is all about.

Imagine sharing a room just a little longer than a bathroom with a total stranger, waiting on showers, hoping the water will at least be luke-warm. Or having a plastic card monitor your entrance back into the dorm after curfew. It's hard enough keeping up with a room key, and now a key card! But that's life and part of the joys of living in a dorm.

Your roommate, that person you keep running over every time you decide to move, just happens to be the "ideal" companion when you decide to stroll over to the radical parties which are usually raging in Foote or Cline. Who else is better suited to help you find the right dorm, the right room, and the right bed at four in the morning, after all, they know exactly where you belong and where you don't!

A Time To Play

Campus life is full of different experiences that you can only share with friends. When that wonderful "morning after" feeling attacks you, after an all night party, dormmates and especially roommates are quite sensitive to your moods! It's like a twenty-four hour "care service". With a slight touch to four digits, you can arrange to meet your pal downstairs in ten minutes or a special rendezvous down by the lake with your current mate. You don't even have to ask permission from mom!

That's probably the most unsettling feeling about dormlife, there is no one to make the decisions like when to come in, when to study, etc. . . . It's leaving home and staying out on your own. Truly a time to plant and a time to pluck up that which is planted. Childhood friends and high school sweethearts are kissed and waved goodbye. We leave behind our youths and move into adulthood. Taking those first major steps, packing up, moving out, and thinking "watch out Pfeiffer, I'm on my way!"

A Time To Appreciate

Their paychecks are not as large as the professors' from larger schools — During the time to receive

Their interest in our welfare rises above the "common" teachers' — During the time to care

Their quest for "truth" is never-ending as they learn by teaching . . . especially when grading — During the time to give

But they are ours — and we cherish them . . .

A Time To Succeed

Seniors, the last leg of what seemed an endless journey began in kindergarten close to seventeen years ago. The seasons have all passed away graduates of '88. You stand before life ready for whatever comes next.

In what ways has the Pfeiffer difference changed those about to graduate? Rick Hoffman quipped, "After four years at college, CIS majors can last all night." Surely he's referring to exam time study habits, isn't he?

Worth Sparks remarks, "It figures they get an ice machine the year I graduate."

Watching seniors as they slowly move through their last year at Pfeiffer is a lot like watching salmon migrate upstream. They start out strong and yet it takes everything they have to make it to the final day. Graduation is like the pool at the top of the river. This vantage point is the culmination of four years, or more, of hard work, once they cross that stage they suddenly realize they can breathe again.

sense of the word. A senior is a strange and unexplainable mutation. Seniors have over-active imaginations, uncontrollable emotional responses and an overall thoroughly unexplainable behavior.

A psychiatrist observing life at Pfeiffer would probably come up with some answers. He might comment on stress or a highly unhealthy lifestyle, but there are many seniors who feel that the problems are both universal and limited to Pfeiffer College. Most of all, seniors feel that their behavior is not their fault.

There are a few things which might help to explain this phenomenon. The first and foremost factor is without a doubt the necessity of accumulating cultural credit. Never mind that a senior has four years to get his necessary amount of culture; never mind that the cultural office keeps a senior informed of their totals, never mind that it isn't particularly difficult to get those important units. The key word here is stress. A senior can't graduate before receiving that little note which says "You are cleared for graduation," they don't even get their hopes up. So what if you watched every episode of Magnum P.I. this semester, you don't have a degree until the numbers match up. Culture is a loosely defined word. To a senior, Culture means you get your diploma.

Seniors have another problem too, the fulive. "I'll just move to another planet if that's okay, no really, this one is just a bit too confusing. They never told me it would be like this." Faced with such a situation what would you do, you can't stay here, and you don't even want to, but you can't leave either, or at psychological trauma. Certainly, a certificate or plaque helps a senior feel as if he/she wasn't ignored. Somebody noticed how hard the seniors were trying in their final hour. But did you notice that all the money goes to the juniors and sophomores and freshmen, not a single monetary reward for the poor senior who probably needs that money more than anybody else. All that bobbing up and down is tiring too. Seniors need rest. They get enough exercise just thinking about graduation, they don't need to be standing up and sitting down and standing up and sitting down. It's enough to make a senior want to stay in bed.

Squatter's Rights

Ever since I was a small child I have been convinced of cause and effect relationships. I did something wrong and my mother spanked me for it, cause and effect. This firm conviction has led me to always look for some underlying reason for anything that happens around me.

It has been recently discovered that 40% of the students living in Vaughn dormitory have under a 2.0 GPA. Because I live in Vaughn myself I feel close to this problem. I sat in my small room, on top of my small rug, eating a small bowl of popcorn, and applying my small brain to this strange phenomenon. I even had a conversation with myself to see if two of me could find an answer.

"Okay," I said to myself, "what is the deal here, why do so many students in Vaughn have a low GPA."

"Well," I answered back, "it couldn't be because they're all stupid, because they all seem to have an incredible vocabulary when it comes to describing women."

"Right," I agreed, "they're not stupid. How about, just plain lazy?"

"Hey," I shouted, "that could be it, remember how lazy I was before transferring from UNCG."

"Yes that's true," I admitted. "I only had a 1.8 GPA at UNCG and I was very lazy."

"Wait a minute," I objected.

"What?" I asked.

"A lot of these guys play sports, and work out," I said.

"Yeah, maybe they aren't lazy either," I agreed.

"So what could the cause of this problem be?" I asked. I thought a minute more, and then just before I was about to think for another minute I realized something.

"That's it!" I cried.

"What's it?" I said.

"The bathrooms in Vaughn have no stalls, no doors, nothing to create privacy," I said triumphantly.

"By God, I think you have it!" I exclaimed.

I shook hands with myself in victory. Yes, it was the lack of doors around the johns that had caused this problem. It must be offending everyone's sense of academic dignity. How could we be expected to become serious minded students when we couldn't even use the john in our own dorm in privacy? We couldn't be expected to think and act like students when we were living like cavemen, sitting in the middle of the bathroom in front of God and everybody. It seemed a miracle that we had kept our sanity through this full scale assault on our sensibilities.

It is obvious to me that you can't take college seriously when you have to walk across campus to another building just to answer nature's call in privacy.

William T. O'Neil Jr.

"Oh sure, I just love midterms. In fact, they're my favorite pastime outside of watching soap operas and eating refined sugar."

A Time To Think

Juniors, next to the end, hoping all the pieces will somehow fall together. Praying the last graduation requirements will be met and the right major decided, the year has passed. Robin Wallace, sighs and exclaims, "I feel like I've been here FOREVER!"

A Time To Cheer

As sophomores we knew the routine, we knew what was expected, how to reach our goals and the main obstacle . . . time. Rob Enlow , a.k.a. "Teen Wolf", says, "It means you don't have to worry about being a lowly freshman. Nor do you have to worry about graduating. So you can just relax and concentrate on studies, sports or 'extra-curricular' activities."

A Time To Change

We once again cracked the books on August 13, and quickly as the pages were read and turned so were the days lived and passed. Now we are looking back at how it all began: entering our first freshman class, nervously eyeing the professor standing at the front of the room.

In our mind played the forewarning there is a time to keep silence and a time to speak, but most of all take notes! Can we count the endless number of trees that died for our notebook paper and mimeographed handouts?

What's it like to be a freshman a Pfeiffer? Tonya Springer replied, "The Pfeiffer spirit and experience is incredible. I've enjoyed it!" Her classmate and roommate, Liane Hall, agrees with her, "It's definitely been an experience!"

A Time To Win

When studying brings on the doldrums, it's time for the spirit to be lifted and the body to be revitalized; it's time for sports. Basketball, lacrosse, field hockey or anything else that Pfeiffer athletics has to offer can be the ticket to a new outlook on college life.

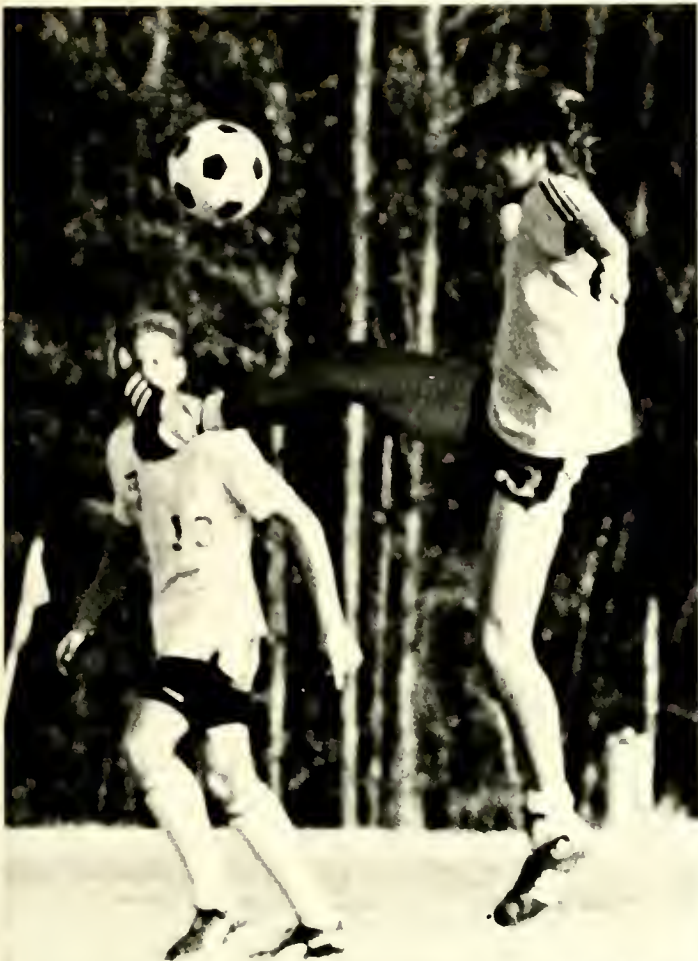

As we look back on the sports events of the 1987-88 year, we can see the trials that we as a Pfeiffer team experienced. The defeats were nothing compared to the thrills we felt as one of our fellow students made the winning effort, proving to all that it is Pfeiffer's time to win.

Pfeiffer Soccer

Field Hockey

Nancy Ingram, who serves as the coach for the field hockey team, awarded Missy Johnstone and Debbie Finch Most Valuable Player award for the season of 1987-88.

Pfeiffer College Cross Country

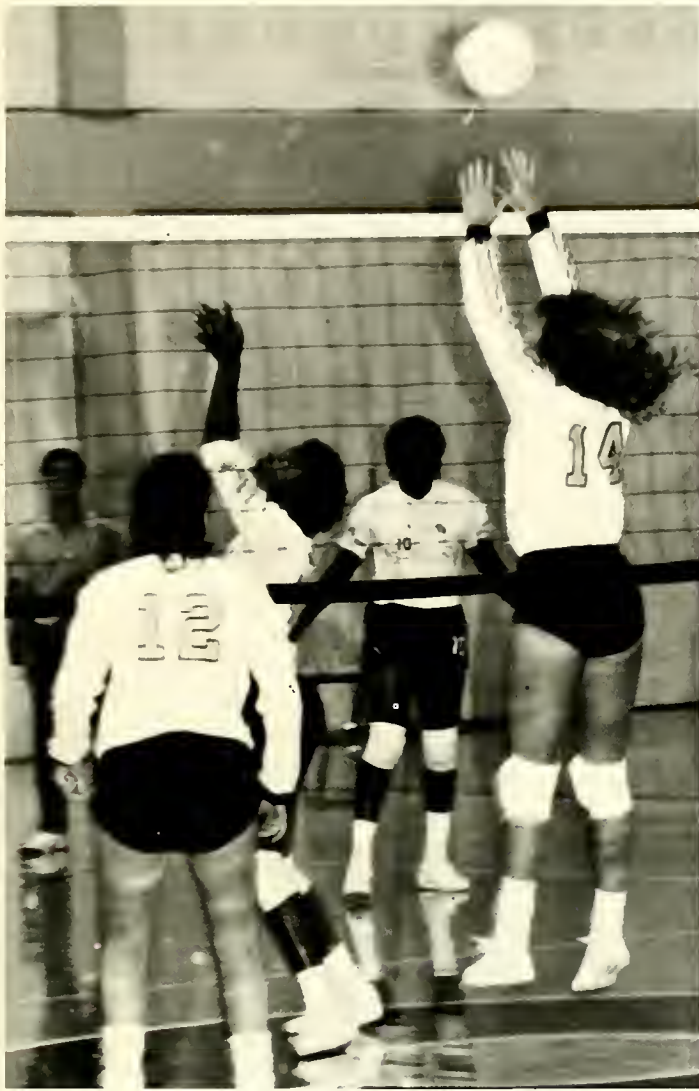

Tim Koves, John Spenser, Jon Neblett, Brian Hodge, Brian Chambers, Matt Robertson, Jeff Childress, Rob Bumgardner.

During the Cross Country season, Jeff Childress became the record holder for Pfeiffer College. Jack Ingram was privileged to give the award to Jeff.

Volleyball

Year after year one person stands out in their performance as an athlete. This year it is again that Denise Hemler outshines the other players and is honored with the award of MVP.

A

Women's Basketball

Mary Ann Sunbury's Lady Falcons ended Pfeiffer's 87-88 basketball season with 12 wins and 11 losses of 23 games. Conference played in late February marked final games for outstanding seniors; Donna Wolf, Angie Little, Bonnie Nicodemus, Denise Hemler, and Martha Trotter.

Outstanding performances by these recent graduates provided notable gains for Pfeiffer College Women's Basketball and narrowed score margins within a few points, foremost losses.

Overall, the Lady Falcon's completed the season with their opponents matched to the cutting edge.

Angie Little, Amonda Bentley, Denise Hemler, Martha Trotter, Shelly Causby, Tammy Endicott, Donna Wolf, Kim Jones, Bonnei Nicodemus, Angie Morton, Amy Trogdon, Marsha Long.

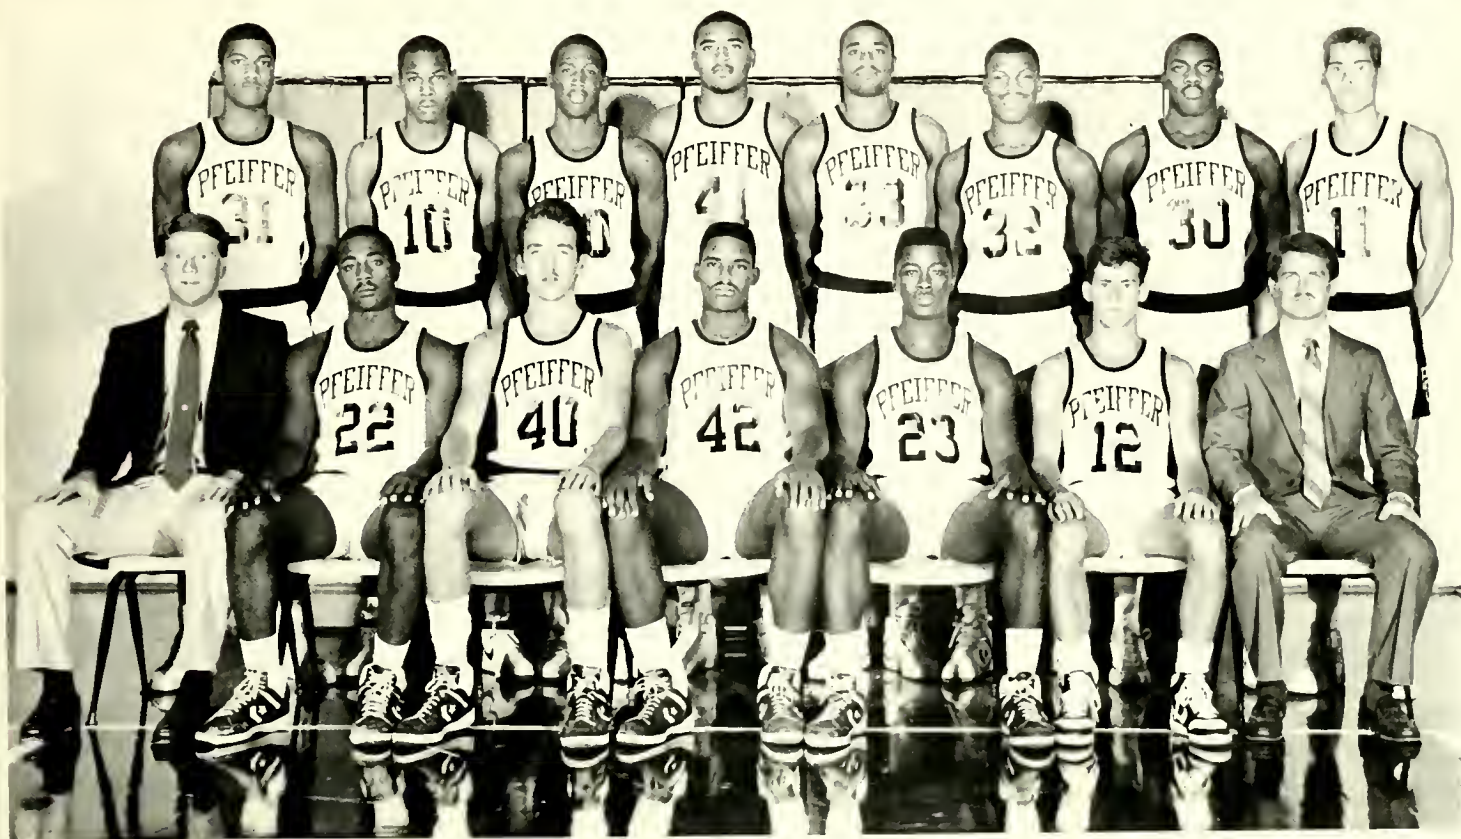

Men's Basketball

Pfeiffer's Men's Basketball put out for 24 games this season with 7 wins and 17 losses. Their most valuable players was Clarence Underwood, who was the season's leading scorer.

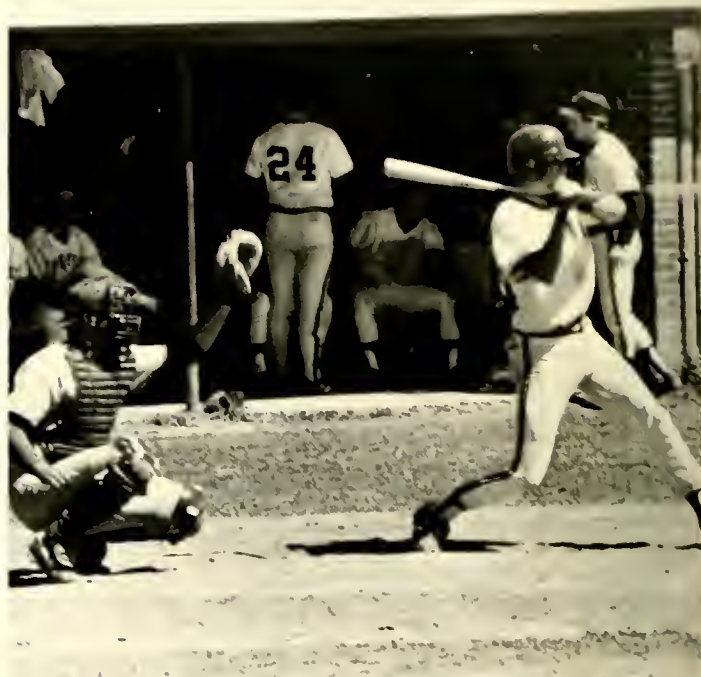

Fred Allen, David Bennekin, James Brookes, Craig Bryant, Tim Elm, Darren Lassiter, Clifton Morton, Thomas Pittman, Mark Shiflet, Matt Smith, Clarence Underwood, Dean Vernon, Rodney Wilson.

Pfeiffer Baseball

This years Baseball team was a competitive one. Even though they were picked to be dead last at the beginning of the season, they finished up with 18-15. They seemed to have some advantage because of the earlier practice in Florida before season began. This gave the new players a feel for their team. Although most were valuable players, Andre Knox and Joel Petlick stood out from the rest.

Women's Tennis

Women's Tennis finished 5th in the Conference and 5th in the District this year with 8 wins and 6 losses. Patti Goodman was awarded All Conference and All District Player.

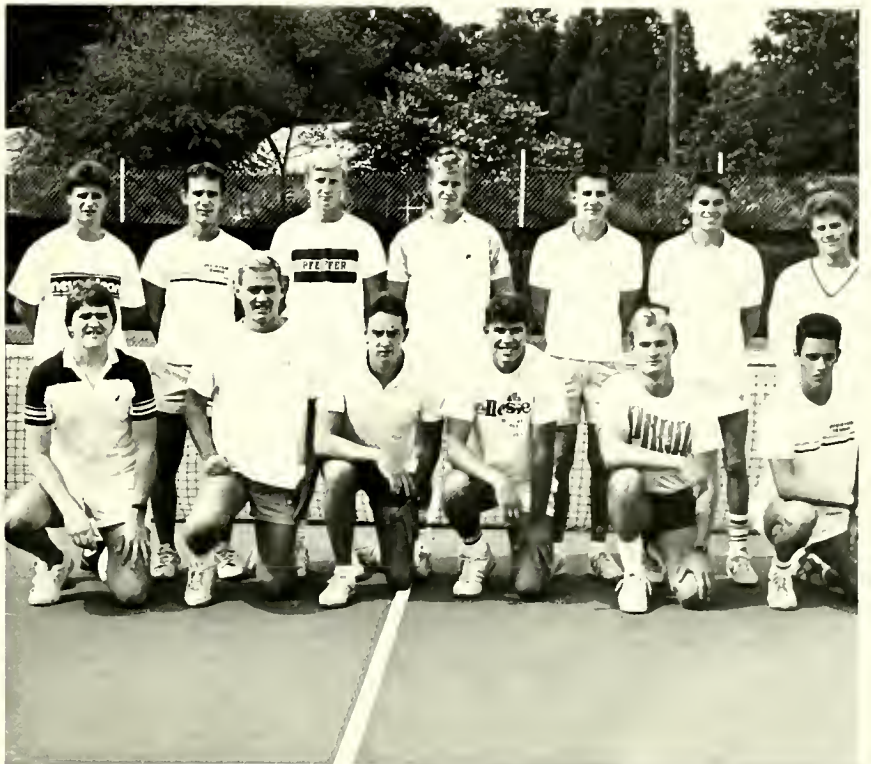

Kelly Baker, Wendy Butensky, Jill Gilchrist, Patti Goodman, Lori Greene, Kim Jones, Marsha Long, Mary Ann Sunbury (Coach).

Men's Tennis

In Men's Tennis this year Greg Caccia was honored with the Most Valuable Player award.

Pfeiffer Softball

Coach Jack Ingram had the honor of awarding Lee Ann Oehler, Angie Little, and Martha Trotter with MVP. All were selected for All-District.

Pfeiffer Lacrosse

Pfeiffer Lacrosse did not do as well this year as they had hoped. They ended the year out with 3 wins and 6 losses. Craig Majid was the high scorer, with 29 goals. He and Mike Cerino have the privilege to play on club teams in Australia this coming summer. The team is extremely proud of them.

Pfeiffer College Swim Team

The Lady Falcon Swim Team wrapped up another season with swimmers that qualified for the NAIA Nationals in individual events as well as for three relay events.

Among those who qualified were; Amy Kaspert, Missy Chestnutt, Erin McHugh and Paige Seme. This event marked a very prosperous year for the swimmers.

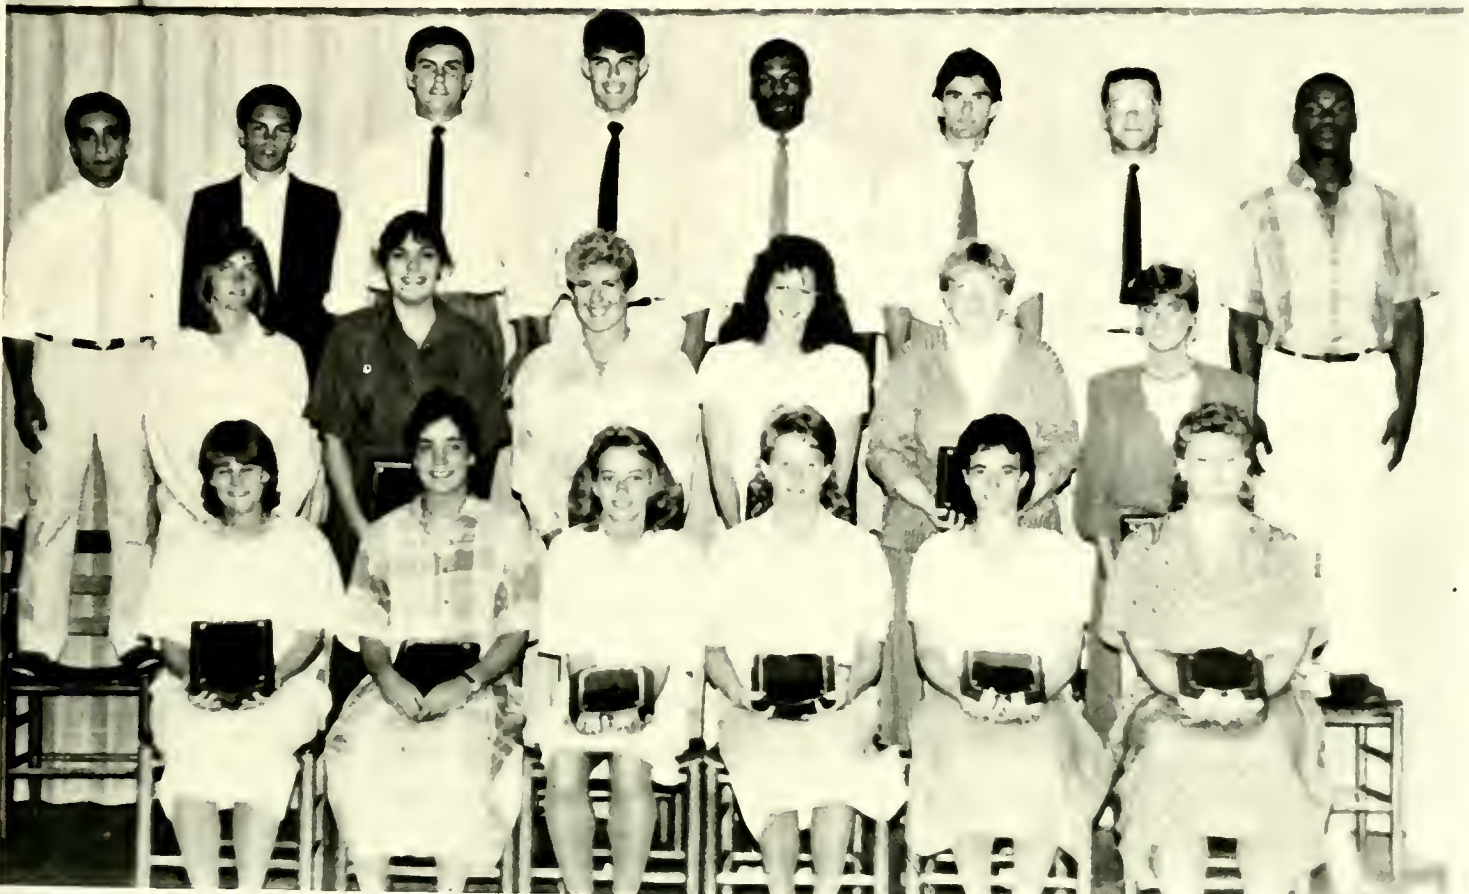

Kim Waln, Paige Seme, Missy Chestnutt, Mesa Shriner, Amy Kaspert, Jennifer Street, Erin McHugh.

Athletic Banquet

Pfeiffer College's annual Athletic Banquet was held Wednesday night at Harward's Fish and Steak House. Tom Childress, Pfeiffer's Director of Athletics, presided over the awards ceremony. The evening provided an opportunity for reflection and recognition of outstanding athletes in each sport.

After the head Athletic Trainer, Ken Bronw, gave the invocation, dinner was enjoyed by everyone. Then the coaches began to recognize those athletes who were outstanding.

PFEIFFER COLLEGE

Publish or Perish

It would be a wrong to say that the publications here at Pfeiffer have had a terrific year. The truth is they haven't. Although response is high, participation is not.

With the exception of a few key people the publications at Pfeiffer College have had very little support this year.

The Chimes was run without an advisor to oversee it's progress. Much of the work was handled by a few people who felt motivated to see that some sort of yearbook was published for delivery next year. The gossip around campus was that there wouldn't be a yearbook this year. Many people didn't seem to care one way or the other.

The Pfeiffer News seemed to have trouble off and on all year. Once again it seemed the responsibility wasn't divided equally enough and the drain was too much on the students involved. The paper started out strong and virtually disappeared.

The Pfeiffer Review faired better than most this year. Submissions to the magazine were at an all time high, and practically printed itself.

All of these publications need student support. Not just to be read. Not just to be critiqued and dismissed as a bad effort. These publications reflect Pfeiffer College; they reflect Pfeiffer College students. They are student publications. Without the willing support and energy of the students, The Chimes, The News, and the Review will perish. This College needs the exchange of views and the chance to preserve something of each year which these student publications provide. Hopefully, everyone at Pfeiffer will see that it's their duty as students to get involved, to have their say, to pinch hit once in a while. The possibilities for these publications are endless, but it can't be done without your help.

The Pfeiffer College Chimes Yearbook Staff would like to extend their greatest appreciation to Alison Erdman and Robin Wallace for their perseverance and dedication to the completion of the 1987-88 yearbook.

Sincerely,
Your Staff
